

EQUISEA

AN INITIATIVE OF
 THE OCEAN FOUNDATION

Ensuring Our Ocean is Studied Everywhere

ADDRESSING INEQUITIES IN OUR FIELD

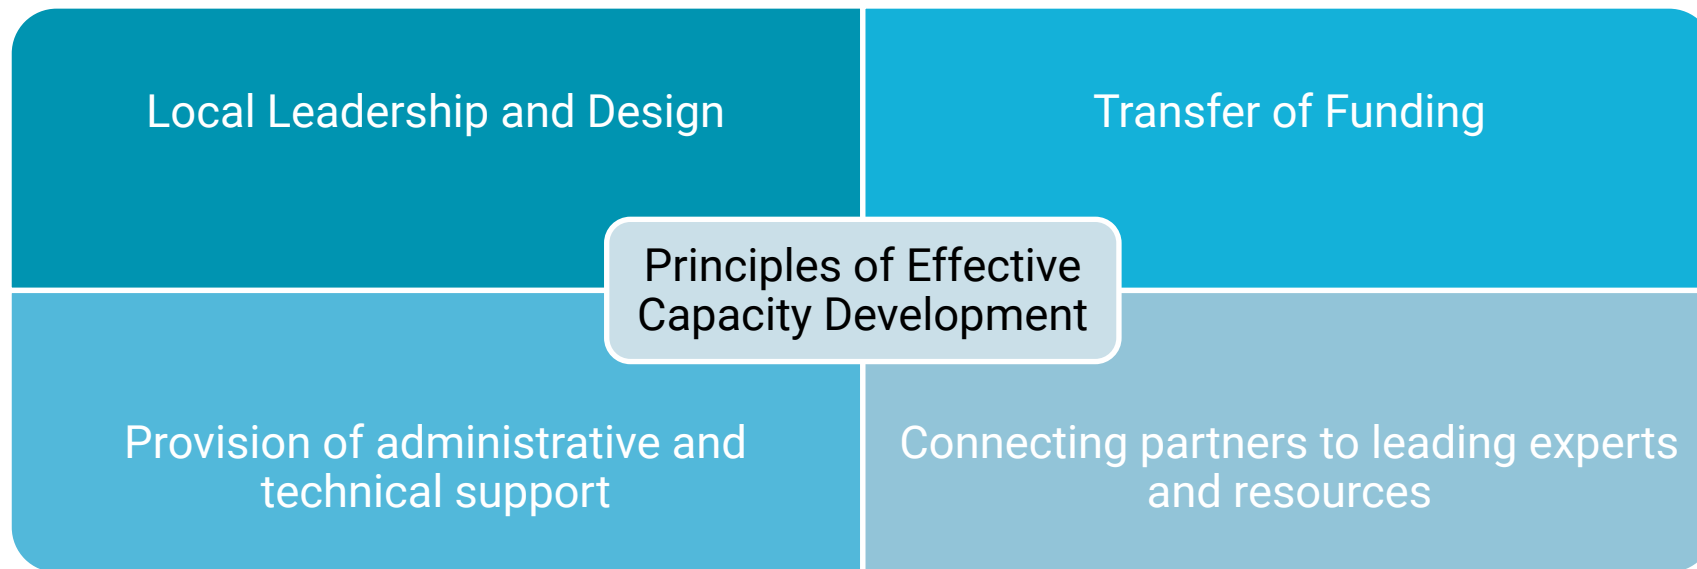

Dr. Kaitlyn Lowder on behalf of Alexis Valauri-Orton

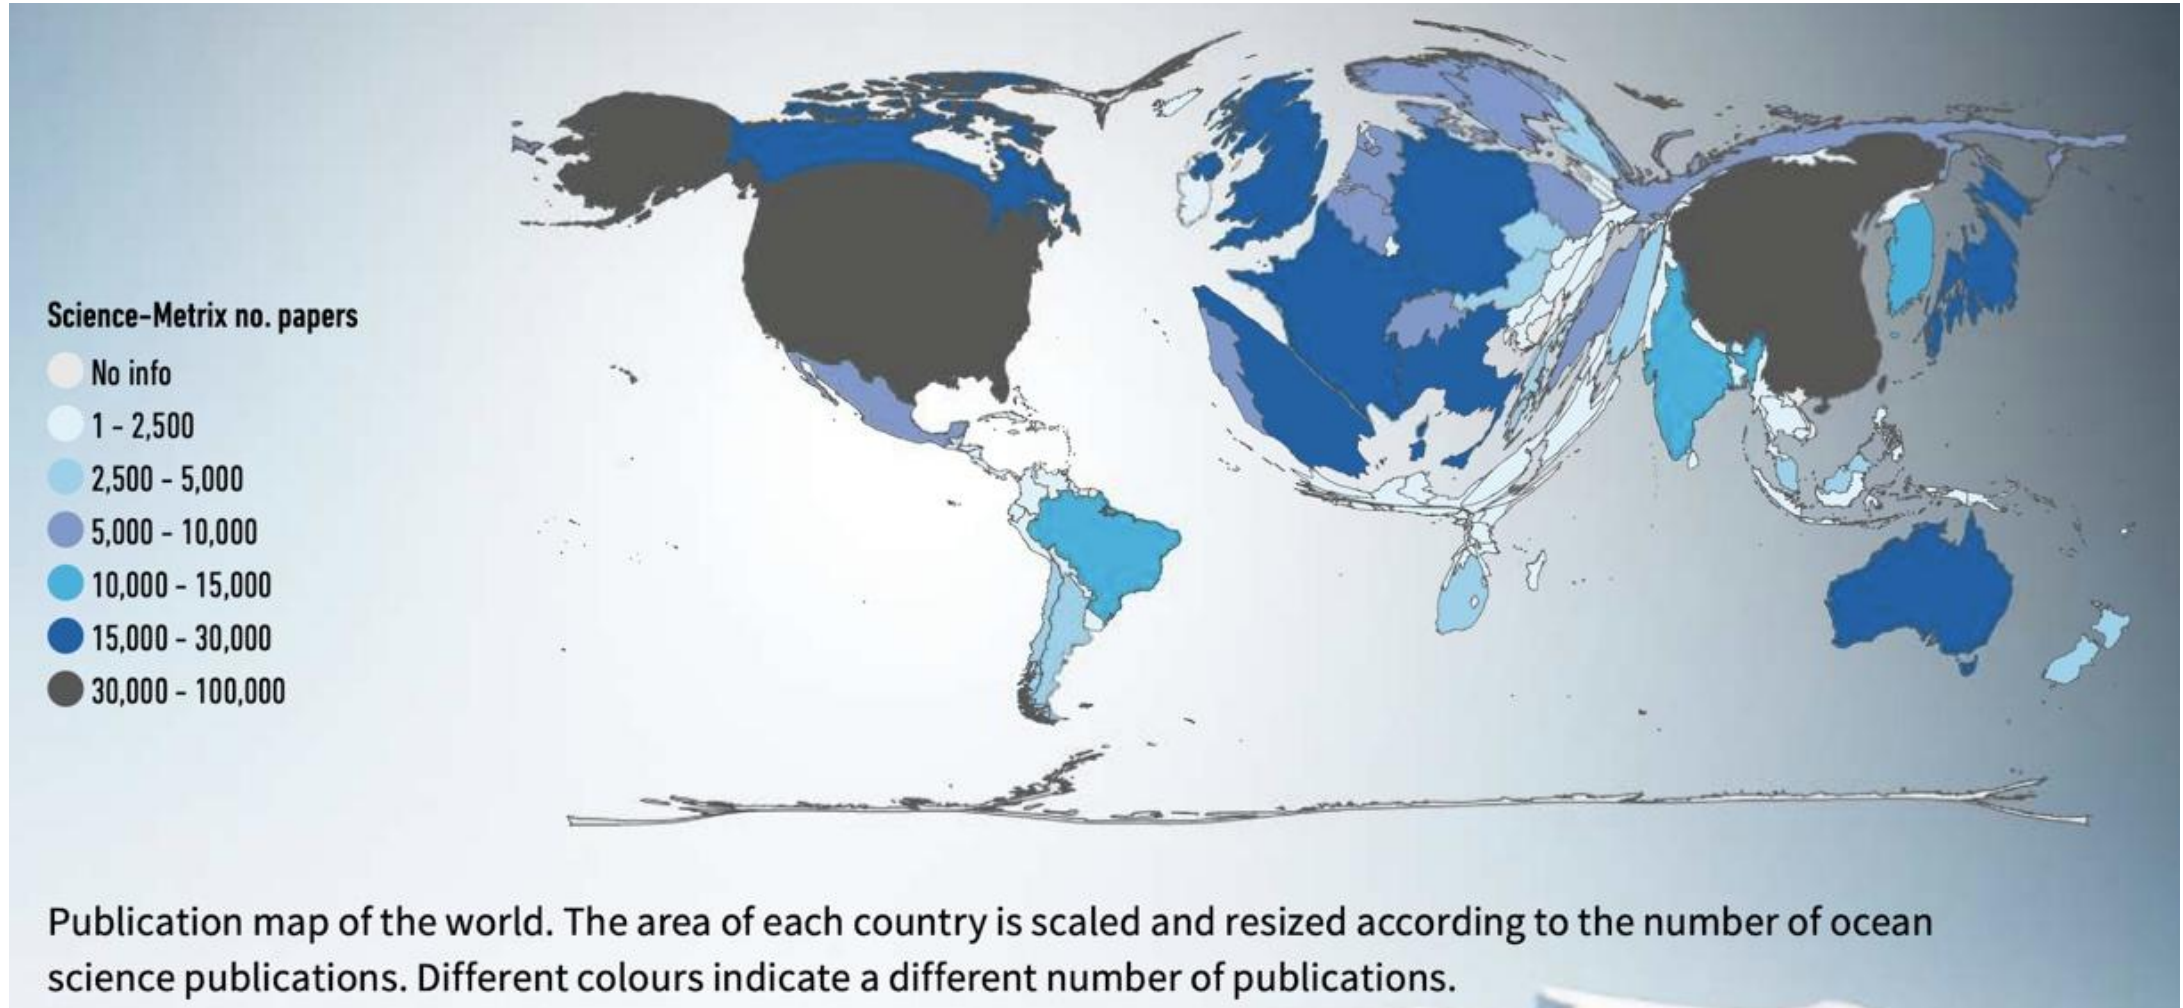

TOF's History

As a community foundation, capacity development is core to TOF's design and mission.

All of TOF's capacity development activities focus on removing technical, administrative, and financial burdens for on the ground partners. The goal is to ensure locally led and sustained ocean science activities that contribute to pressing ocean issues.

Global Ocean Science Capacity At A Glance

Pacific Partnerships Program to co-develop, deploy, and build capacity in ocean observing technologies

TWO OPEN RFPs:
oceanfdn.org/volunteer-and-career-resources/

Opportunities to Broaden Engagement in the Oceans Obs Community

Develop meaningful collaborations to understand context of local researchers

Creating resources such as best practices, guides, and decision trees

Thank You

Kaitlyn Lowder on behalf of Alexis Valauri-Orton
Program Officer
The Ocean Foundation
avalauriorton@oceanfdn.org

1320 19th Street NW, Suite 500, Washington, DC 20036
www.oceanfdn.org